SMALL CYCLONE DID DAMAGE

Thursday Afternoon, Telephone Poles Blown Down.

LASTED SHORT TIME.

Cloud Divided, As Usual, Before Reaching City.

Few, if any, people in the city were aware that the strong gale which accompanied the April-like shower which fell in the city Thursday, was the milder half of a cyclone which passed over the southwest section near us.

The wind and rain put in their appearance here about 2:30 p. m. and lasted but a short time when the sun came out again, and for a while people suffered with the intense heat and closeness of the atmosphere.

The wind was not strong enough to do any damage in the city, but it was different west and southwest. A heavy cloud came from the west followed by a cyclonic wind. The wind had a spiral motion and did considerable damage to standing wheat.

Mr. Thomas Carliss, who was cutting wheat had to stop his machine as the hands were too much frightened to work, while the mules attached to the machine were so panicky that they had to be unhitched. On the farm of Mr. G. L. Campbell foul telephone poles were blown down and communication was, of course, cut off.

Mr. Cato, on the Garland farm, had a cow stable blown down, and other damage was done in that section.

Like all wind storms the one of Thursday divided a few miles out from the city. One part of it took a north-east course but we have not heard of any damage being done before spending its force. The city got the weaker half, the course being almost due east.

DULL TIMES.

Have Ruled at Police Headquarters For a Week.

The police force have been "in clover" for nearly a week. For the past six days only two arrests were made, a man for drunkenness and woman for breach of the peace, and, strange to say, both parties are white. It may be that the warning to vagrants issued by the Chief of Police has driven a large number of the colored population into the brush or maybe they are taking observations as to what the blackberry crop is to be.

LEW BROWN PRESIDENT

Tom Underwood Distinguishes Himself as Toast Master.

MEETING IS A SUCCESS.

Newspaper Boys Close Excellent Session at Estill.

Estill Springs, Ky., June 20—Lew B. Brown, of Harrodsburg, was unanimously elected president of the Kentucky Press Association. The Hon. Tim Needham succeeded to the vice presidency without opposition, while that worthy and popular penman, Vernon Richardson, of Danville, became his own successor as secretary and treasurer. The friends of Tom Underwood, of Hopkinsville, will be glad to know that he is in line for first honors and will become chairman of the Executive Committee.

In a business sense the meeting has been both interesting and important. The papers read and the addresses delivered betray that much time and thought have been expended in their preparation, and in the interchange of opinions, many profitable suggestions have come to light. The association took a very decided stand against the introduction of politics, when Mr. J. W. Hedden, of Mt. Sterling, attempted to secure the adoption of a resolution declaring for temperance. Under the leadership of Harry Sommers, the resolution was antagonized and defeated practically unanimously.

The banquet last evening passed off with great elation. Tom Underwood as the presiding genius of the occasion idealized the part with his wit and wisdom. The responses were unusually happy and humorous.

FRENCH REVOLUTION

Another One Threatened In South of France.

Paris, June 20.—Fighting has commenced between the troops and the striking vinegrowers in the south of France. There was trouble at several points yesterday; the worst happened at Narbonne, where the people are in full revolt. Cavalry charged the mob twice and several persons were injured in the fray.

Mercelin Albert, leader of the vinegrowers' movement, and M. Ferroul, the striking mayor of Narbonne and next to M. Albert the most prominent figure in the trouble, were arrested today. When M. Ferroul was taken into custody a serious clash was threatened and was averted only by the efforts of the mayor to calm the people.

SENT TO PEN

For Scraping Plant Beds In Caldwell County.

The cases of Stephen Choat, white, and Ned Pettit, a negro, who were charged with scraping tobacco plant beds in Caldwell County, have been tried in the Caldwell Circuit Court, now in session at Princeton, when each man entered a plea of guilty, and was sentenced to terms of one year in the State penitentiary. These are the first cases in which parties charged with the crime of plant bed scraping have confessed his guilt when brought to trial, and been sentenced to the pen. They claimed to have scraped beds in retaliation, as their own beds had been destroyed only a few nights before.

A Dainty Dressing Sacque.

Pattern No. 5645.—No garment in the woman's wardrobe can approach the dressing sacque in convenience, utility, and comfort. A broad collar extending over the shoulder gives a distinctive air to this one. The back is gathered in to the figure and the fullness in front may be confined by a belt or not just as the wearer desires. Made of French flannel, cutting or for warm weather, China silk, dainty or lawn trimmed as illustrated it would make a charming and comfortable addition to the wardrobe. The medium size will require three and three-quarters yards of 36-inch material.

Ladies' Dressing Sacque, No. 5645. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. The pattern here illustrated will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents.

A CITY OFFICIAL'S OPINION.

Why Municipal Plants Are Operated at a Disadvantage.

Professor George F. Sever of Columbia university and for several years consulting engineer of the department of water supply, gas and electricity of New York city, was recently called upon by the Syracuse lighting commission to give expert advice as to the desirability of that city's embarking upon municipal ownership of its electric lighting. According to the Syracuse Post-Standard, Professor Sever expressed the opinion that the city could not produce light at as low a cost as they are now furnished by the Syracuse Lighting company, and stated various reasons why municipal electric light plants are not conducted as effectively and economically as plants owned by public service corporations. To quote:

"He said that his investigation of the subject convinced him that the management of a municipal plant was hampered by the laws governing a municipality. The superintendent did not have the same advantages in making the improvements, some demanding immediate action, as when acting for a corporation. The length of time required for proceedings for an expenditure by a municipality, he said, might be dangerous to the success of the plant. He further stated that there appeared to be no incentive to highly efficient men to take charge of a municipal plant. He did not believe that a superintendent of a municipal plant would show the same interest in the management of the plant as if serving a corporation which gave him a large degree of power in making any changes deemed necessary. A city, he thought, would demand honesty and only a fair amount of technical skill of its superintendent, and chances for a change of administration would not promise the reward for efficient service that might be expected of a private company."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP? NO.

Voters Reject the Proposition in Many Cities.

At the primary election held in Baltimore recently municipal ownership was rejected by both parties, and the municipal ownership candidate received but 9 per cent of the votes cast, although he made a vigorous canvass on this platform.

The city councils of Covington, Ky.; Omaha, Neb., and Richmond, Va., have voted down propositions to bond these cities for municipal electric light plants.

A movement in Nebraska City toward municipalizing the water and light plants is said to have been checked by the discovery that they were not on a paying basis.

According to the Electrical Review, the committee appointed to consider the purchase by the town of South Framingham, Mass., of the Framingham Gas, Fuel and Power company and the Edison Electric Illuminating company has recommended that no action be taken on account of lack of public interest.

The proposition to issue bonds for municipal water and gas plants has been voted down in Benton Harbor and Berrien Springs, Mich.

In Pella, Ia., the votes of the women of the city against municipal ownership of the water works, and in Manitowoc, Wis., the purchase of the water works was defeated by a vote of 1,280 to 510.

Getting Ready to Sell Out.

According to the Enterprise of Montpelier, O., the municipal light and water works of that village are in bad shape and will require a large expenditure to put them in serviceable condition. The lighting plant is only twelve years old and cost $16,000. The sale of the plants is under consideration.

The citizens of Sleepy Eye, Minn., are waking up to the costliness of municipal ownership and are discussing the sale of the water works and plant.

The former began its operations in 1896 and is bonded to the amount of $15,000. The dispatch of that place says the situation:

"How to put the plant in condition to furnish the service that it ought to furnish at a reasonable cost is a problem the city has yet been solved. The old plant with its heavy operating expenses and its large repair bill is not likely to serve the desired purpose, and the council recently decided that a new plant was out of the question."

Dilemma of Nashville, Ark.

The Nashville municipal light plant has become a burden to the city, and the council is now considering the advisability of selling it. The company from which the plant was purchased is demanding the remainder of the purchase money and threatening to sell the property unless the payment is met. There is no money with which to meet this payment, as all the revenues of the city have been swallowed up in the attempt to operate and pay for the plant, and the only thing remaining to be done is to either allow the company non-payment of the plant was purchased to foreclose its lien or accept an offer made by a citizen of the town for the plant—Nashville News.

AX IN TREASON TRIALS.

Sharp Edge Turned Toward Prisoner When Sentence is Pronounced.

Every one is aware of the dreadfully significant part the executioner's ax plays in a trial for high treason. The sharp symbol of death is carried before the prisoner, with its blade turned toward him so long as he has not been sentenced, says Macmillan's Magazine, and just before sentence is pronounced the sharp edge is turned his way.

Evelyn, who was present at the trial of Lord Stafford, in 1888, tells us that the ax was turned edgewise to the unfortunate nobleman as soon as it was ascertained that the voting of the peers went against him—an effective but ghastly piece of stage management which must have had a sickening fascination for the unhappy and probably innocent man. In those days, now happily gone by, no one seems to have reflected on the unnecessary cruelty of harrowing the feelings of men about to die by such shocking judicial play-act.

Not every prisoner treated this purely symbolic but otherwise superfluous and unpleasant ceremony as contemptuously as did Lord Balmorloo. When the three coaches conveyed the Lords Kilmarlock, Balmorloo and Cromartie from the Tower to be sentenced at Westminster, on July 28, 1746, a difficulty arose. It was not laid down by prescription or use in which coach if there were more than one that the fatal ax had to be carried. "Oh, put the — thing in here," cried brave old Balmorloo, "I don't care."

Yet notwithstanding his contempt for this horrid symbol, the undaunted old man cheerfully suffered death for his attachment to another symbol, the White Cockade; but Lord Kilmarlock, in the next coach, was dreadfully frightened, as he showed himself to be, by his thorough realization of what the awful ax would mean to him. He inquired minutely into all the details of an execution, wanted the governor of the Tower to tell him whether his head would roll or rebound, and when on the scaffold he saw the executioner dressed in white, with a red apron, he whispered to his chaplain: "Home, how horrible!"

The Lives of Fish.

The normal length of life of our common small minnows probably rarely exceeds four or five years, and may be much shorter; but there are few satisfactory observations on this point. No general rule can be laid down regarding the age of fishes or the relation between age and size. It is known that the salmon of the Pacific coast, which enter the river in such immense shoals, live to be four or five years old, and then invariably die after once laying their eggs. One Japanese fish died when one year old. On the west coast of Europe there occurs a small fish which is like an annual plant—that is, all the individuals die each year, and only the eggs—i. e., the seed—remain to produce the next season's crop.—St. Nicholas.

HOW TO STOP RUNAWAYS.

The policeman had stopped the runaway very neatly. Now, though puffing a little, he was quite calm. "It's nothing to stop a runaway," he said, as he wiped his foam-covered hands. "It is like jumping on or off a moving car—dead easy when you know how."

"What you want to do when you see a runaway tearing towards you is not to stand still, but to run all your might in the same way the nag's a-going. Then, when it catches up to you, you grab the bridle, and keep a-running. Then you are not thrown, you are not trampled on, and in a minute or two the horse slows down."

"I've stopped a dozen runaways without an accident. It's part of our training, and the policeman who would refuse to take a chance would be disgraced the same as a soldier who would refuse to fight."

MIXED HIS LINES.

The manager of the great war drama was furious.

"Blockhead!" he thundered as he rushed into the theatrical office. "What do you mean by sending me an actor who used to work in the kitchen of a cookhouse?"

"How do you know he used to work in the kitchen of a cookhouse?" faltered the agent.

"How do I know? Why, in the battle scene outside of the fortress instead of shouting 'Scale the walls' the numskull bellowed 'scale the fish!'"

THE GOOD-NATURED MAN.

Our Pattern Department

A Dainty Night Gown for a Young Girl.

Pattern No. 5751.—The night gown here illustrated is of the simplest construction yet capable of considerable elaboration, as the yoke may be of all-over embroidery, or of alternate bands of lace and embroidery. The pattern provides for long or three-quarter length sleeves, and for high or low round neck; the high neck being finished by a rolling collar. Nainsook, longcloth, cambric and muslin are all used in the making. For a girl of 14 years, five yards of material 36 inches wide will be required.

Girl's Round Yoke Night Dress, No. 5751. Sizes for 10, 12, 14 and 16 years. The pattern here illustrated will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents.

Our Pattern Department

LADIES' SHIRT WAIST SUIT.

Pattern Nos. 5409 and 5505.—Blue serge was chosen for this modish shirt waist costume. The smart blouse is simply fashioned, and is made to cross in front over a vest of white pique. The seven-gore skirt allows of close adjustment in the upper part and flares gracefully below the hips. The back is finished by an inverted box-pleat, and the pattern provides for instep and round length. Taffeta, voile, pongee, linen and the mixed suitings are all suggested for reproduction. The medium size will require two and one-quarter yards of 44-inch material for the waist and one and five-eighths yards for the skirt.

Ladies' Shirt Waist, No. 5409. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' Seven-Gored Skirt, No. 5505. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

The above illustration calls for two separate patterns. The price is ten cents for the waist and ten cents for the skirt.

She Knew Women.

Nellie, who is in her first year in school, albeit she is a very bright child, came in the other evening and began catechizing her mother.

"Mamma," she inquired, "is there any person in history named Timon Tyde?"

"I've heard of such a name as Timon," ventured the mother doubtfully.

"Was Timon a man or a woman?"

"A man, if I remember correctly," said Nellie.

By this time the mother was quite curious. "Why do you think so when you know so little about it?" she queried.

"Well," responded Nellie, with confidence, "the teacher said Timon Tyde waits for no man, and I didn't think it could be a woman."

REPORTED KILLING OF CID GOOCH.

Rumor Says That Ball Intended For Conductor Killed Gooch.

REPORT NOT VERIFIED.

K. P. Lodge Here Makes
Effort to Ascertain Death
But Fails.

A rumor was current here Thursday and yesterday that W. Gideon Gooch, a former Hopkinsville man, had been shot and suddenly killed in some part of Missouri. The report was first circulated early in the morning, but the starting point was not known.

A representative of the Kentuckian spoke to half a dozen or more persons who ought to have known if there were any truth or foundation in the report but no one seemed to know positively anything about it.

The report is not believed to be true, as Mr. W. C. Wright, the Keeper of Records and Seal of the local Pythian lodge would doubtless have particulars before this time, as Mr.
Gooch is a member in good standing in the order. Mr. Wright says that the last time he heard of Mr.
Gooch he was in Mississippi and he remitted $10 to pay lodge dues. This was about April 15th.

Mrs. Gooch is traveling with her husband, and if he had been killed
she would most certainly have communicated with the K. of R. and Seals.

The way Mr. Gooch is said to have been killed is an unusual thing. Rumor says he was on a street car and a negro man went into the car and took a seat. The conductor went to collect his fare, which the negro refused to pay.

The conductor told the negro that if he didn't pay his fare he would put him off the car and started to do so when the negro drew his pistol and shot at the conductor. The ball missed the conductor, it is said, and struck Mr. Gooch, killing him instantly.

Mr. Gooch has not been living here for several years, but has been traveling. He was here during the carnival last year and had a show of some kind on the carnival grounds.
The details are so meager that not much credence is attached to the rumor and, though the killing is said to have gotten into the papers, no one here saw it and the hope is general that Mr. Gooch did not meet with such an unexpected and unusual death.

"INCORPORATED."

Expensive Child's Play by Last Legislature.

Of all the acts of folly committed by recent Legislatures of Kentucky
the one requiring incorporated companies to put the word "incorporated" on all stationery used, put it into every advertisement, etc., is the worst.
Many business houses have lost hundreds of dollars by the word being omitted, and often it was done by the negligence of the printers. But the business men, though entirely innocent of any intention of evading the law, have had to pay the penalty.

There never has been a bigger piece of foolishness put into the Statute of Kentucky. If anyone has ever benefited in the least by such a law we have not heard of
it. It is nothing but child's play, but it is the most expensive toy that the world has ever known. Every intelligent person would like to see the law repealed and the press of the State owes it to the people to use every effort to have it wiped off the Statutes when the next Legislature meets. No doubt it will be done.

DUFFY WINS PENALTY SUIT

Judgment For $2,432 Against Ex-Sheriff Lem. R.
Davis.

BARNES CASE PENDING.

County Attorney Is Seeking to Recover $6,000 For County.

County Attorney John C. Duffy yesterday secured judgment in the circuit court against ex-Sheriff L. R.
Davis for $2,432.05 penalty on taxes collected by him in 1901, 1902, 1903
and 1904 and appropriated by him instead of being turned into the treasury. In a test case made last year Mr. Duffy secured a reversal of the county court for $762 which with interest now amounts to more than $800. This amount will probably be paid, but Mr. Davis will appeal this last case. The judgments against him are now more than $3,200. A similar case against J. J.
Barnes, his predecessor in office, for about the same amount, will probably be decided at this term of court.
It is not claimed that there was any criminality in the matter. It has long been the custom for sheriffs to approximate the penalties on delinquent taxes, sometimes advancing money to settle in full. The test case will be passed upon by the Court of Appeals and Mr. Duffy is confident he will win the case and restore more than $6,000 to the treasury.

DID YOU SMILE?

One of the "novelties" of the big "Happy Week Sale," so extensively advertised to begin yesterday at Anderson's, was the smiling case.

A large card hung over a case filled with ladies slippers, belts and almost every imaginable article that ladies use. The card bore the announcement that any lady or girl who would look, Mr. Anderson or Mr. Bell squarely in the eye and, without smiling, ask them for any article in the case should have it free. It is useless to say that the case was pretty well emptied before 10 o'clock.

The "smiling case" was certainly an innovation in the way of advertising. Mr. Bell has been accused of adopting it as a plan to try to look solemn when he "pops the question" to some young lady soon, as owing to his habitual smile the numerous young ladies, who in the past did not know whether he was fooling or not.

MINISTERS

Have Been Having a Time of It of Late.

We do not remember of a time when so many ministers of this city have been "under the weather" at one time.

Dr. Forgarty has not been at all well for two weeks and was unable to fill the pulpit of the Ninth Street Presbyterian church last Sunday,
but will preach tomorrow morning.
Rev. E. H. Bull, of the First Presbyterian church, has been unable to be out this week, but will conduct the usual services tomorrow.

Dr. A. P. Lyon, of the M. E.
Church, attended a picnic last Wednesday, and while playing "handkerchief" with the children, sprained his right ankle so badly that he has been hauled around town in his buggy and manages to get about the house with the aid of a cane and a crutch or two. He will fill his pulpit tomorrow. The Doctor says hurting his ankle does not interfere with his appetite and he is getting along finely.

Dr. M. A. Jenkins is still looking somewhat feeble, but his frequent visits to Dawson have again put him in such condition that he is able to do a great deal of work.

C. O. P.'S SACRIFICE OFFERING

Augustus E. Willson Named For First Place On Ticket.

BY ACCLAMATION.

Judge James Breathitt Receives Like Empty Honor and Will Run.

Louisville, Ky., June 19.—After rumors of contests on the floor over the endorsement of a presidential candidate and the local option question, the Republicans of Kentucky, in state convention to-night, selected Hon. Augustus E. Willson, of Louisville, as their candidate for governor, and adopted their platform without a dissenting voice.

The contest between the adherents of Vice President Fairbanks and Secretary of War Taft in committee was warm, but there was but one report, naming no candidate, and merely expressing a preference for a candidate who would faithfully carry out President Roosevelt's policy. The night session opened with the unanimous report of the committee on credentials, disposing of contests in Daviess and Henderson counties and three wards in the city of Louisville. All the delegates seated were Willson men and the report was adopted by acclamation.

The report of the committee on resolutions, over which much time had been spent, was well received, especially the first plank indorsing the administration of President Roosevelt.

Hon. Augustus Willson is a resident of Louisville, for many years prominent in politics and at the bar. In 1903 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. He has held numerous political offices.

The first plank in the platform is as follows: "We approve the policies and commend the ability, courage and integrity of President Theodore Roosevelt and his administration and without expressing preference for any candidate, favor the selection by the national convention for president of one in full accord with those policies and who will energetically carry them out in the interests of all the people."

The foregoing is the only reference to national affairs made in the platform as introduced. The remainder is devoted to state affairs and promises election law reforms, condemns the present use of registration certificates, declares for publicity concerning campaign funds and contributions, demands a law of redempting the state in legislative, congressional and judicial districts, demands a revision of the laws governing the common schools and reform in the management of charitable institutions. The State Racing Commission is condemned and the repeal of the law under which it was created is recommended. Local option, which next to honest elections, is the most important state issue touched upon, is treated as follows: "We favor the enactment and enforcement of a uniform local option law applicable alike to every county in the State with the county as the governing unit."

Following are the nominees for the state officers:

For Governor—Augustus E. Willson, Louisville.
For Lieutenant Governor—W. H. Cox, Maysville.
For Attorney General—James Breathitt, Hopkinsville.
For Auditor—Frank P. James, Harrodsburg.
For State Treasurer—Capt. Ed Farley, Paducah.
For Secretary of State—Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Munfordsville.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—J. C. Crabbe, Ashland.
For Clerk of Court of Appeals—Napier Adams, Somerset.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. It cured me permanently."

FIVE VICTIMS.

Barton Shoots Wife, Three Children and Self.

ATLANTA, GA., June 20.—A special from Jasper, Fla., says W. N. Barton, a carpenter, shot and almost instantly killed his wife, three children and himself at his home there last night. One victim, a child five years old, survived long enough to tell that Barton did the killing.

The shots were heard about 10 o'clock last night, but no attention was paid to the matter until early today, when neighbors discovered Barton's body lying on the front porch, and that of his wife on the back porch. The children were found in a bedroom, the pistol having been held close to the mouth in each instance, and the faces were powder marked.

Unhappy domestic relations are believed to have been responsible for the crime. Barton left home Tuesday and did not return until late Wednesday evening, when he found the doors nailed against him. He battered them down and began his work of destruction.

GO TO KNOXVILLE

Large Crowd Will Leave
Next Tuesday.

The following parties will go to Knoxville next Tuesday, a few merely to spend the warm months, but most of them to take a special course of study to better qualify themselves as teachers in the public schools of the city:

Misses Lois Adeock, Nannie Reeder, Louisa and Virgie Nourse, Carrie Hopper, Emily Eraden, Mary Penn, Mesdames Elizabeth Clark and daughter, W. T. Cooper and daughter.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Who Will Conduct the Contest In This County.

The following Democratic campaign committee for Christian county has been named:

John B. Chilton, Chairman.
F. W. Dabney.
J. E. Moseley.
L. H. Davis.
T. D. Jameson.
Frank Rives.
J. T. Wall.
All of the gentlemen have accepted and a compact organization will be formed in every precinct in the county. A strong effort will be made to carry the county again this year.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

BIG CROWD

Attended Opening Ball at Cerulean Springs.

Hopkinsville People in Large Numbers in Evidence.

The season is now open at Cerulean Springs. The opening ball last Thursday night was the event of the year, and, like all such occasions under the management of Capt. R. S. Pool, was a huge success.

Up to the wee sma' hours of the morning the devotees of Terpsichore enjoyed themselves to the fullest. The music by an Evansville band was splendid and there was nothing lacking to make the evening one not to be forgotten.

Capt. Pool has been laboring and planning for several months to make this opening ball better than any heretofore given and if everybody did not have the time of his life it was his own fault. Among those who participated Thursday night were the following ladies and gentlemen from this city:

The present season will doubtless be the most successful in the history of this famous watering place. Capt. Pool has gone to considerable expense to make it such, and he has a reputation of succeeding in everything he undertakes. It is needless to say anything of the fare—everybody who has been there knows that it is the best, everything in season always being found on the tables, prepared in the most tempting manner and served in a way that is irresistible to the invalid and longed for by the well.

Capt. Pool is an ideal host and superlative every department of his large establishment. The rooms are large, cool and airy, and the hotel stands on the top of a hill that gives a fine view of the surrounding country and catches every fresh breeze that is in motion. No one in need of a rest or who wants an outing for himself and family will give Cerulean the go-by in his search for a refuge from the city during the heated term.

As usual there will be a large number of people from different States this year, and Capt. Pool will make their stay unusually pleasant. The waters of the springs possess curative properties that ought to entice the invalid and the good times meet there will attract pleasure seekers in larger numbers than usual. A skating rink, bowling alley and other features afford amusement to while away hours that might otherwise be dull and commonplace.

Public Sale.

I will on THURSDAY, JUNE 27, offer at public auction on my farm at NOAH'S SPRING, TENN., the following property:

Four good work mules, 25 hogs ready for fattening, five head Jersey milk cows, large lot good farming implements, also farming machinery, household and kitchen furniture. Also my farm of 222 acres, about forty acres in clover now ready to cut.

Terms made known on day of sale. W. B. GRIFFEY.

C. K. Fleming, of Howell, will conduct a barbecue at the Spring during the day of sale.

TOO BUSY.

During Wheat Harvest to Come to Town.

Many of the farmers have been cutting wheat this week and have been too busy to come to town. The quality in all right and the yield also, but the price has not yet been fixed. Many farmers will hold their crops with the hope that the cereal will reach the dollar mark.

WAR ON THE NEGROES

Latest Phase of The Coward-

Riders.

WHIPPING LABORERS.

Negro Lashed And Ordered
to Leave That Section—
Join Association.

Clarksville, Tenn., June 19.—Night riders visited several farmers in the First District this week, creating much excitement among laborers employed by non-association farmers. There were between twelve and twenty persons in the party, and they came, so it is reported, from towards Port Royal and Guthrie.

The colored laborers on the farm of D. W. Wynn were first visited, and Rip Tyler was called from his home, blindfolded and led away to the woods, where it is claimed that he was horsewhipped and told that if he didn't leave the country within three days his house would be blown up and he would be killed. The negro was scared almost to death, and the day following moved away.

It is said that the miscreants then fired fifteen or twenty shots into two tenement houses occupied by a man named Cook, who is a share cropper, and a hired man named Jeffries. The members of the two families were badly frightened, but nobody was hurt.

The night following the hands on the farms of Eli Arbor, S. H. Morgan and A. R. Powers were visited and ordered to find new homes.

Yesterday the farmers mentioned above signed the association pledge and the laborers have all returned to work.

FARMERS MUST NOT

Manipulate Tobacco For Consumers' Use.

Washington, June 20.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Capers announced a ruling today which is of importance to tobacco farmers in Kentucky. In part it is as follows:

"It is held that a farmer may sell tobacco of his own growth or that which he receives from his tenant, without restriction as to the quantity or the business of the person to whom the tobacco is sold or delivered. The privilege is one which the farmer cannot delegate to another person. Where a grower of tobacco sells his crop before it is severed from the land, the purchaser is not privileged to resell it to consumer without payment of the tax.

"A farmer may place his tobacco in the hands of a qualified dealer to be sold on commission, and such dealer must sell it only to other qualified leaf dealers or manufacturers or purchasers for export. Any arrangement made by a farmer or a number of farmers with another person to sell and deliver their tobacco while traveling from place to place would be in violation of law. An agent may travel and solicit orders, but he may not deliver the tobacco to purchasers nor sell tobacco on commission.

"All tobacco sold by an agent for the farmer who raised the tobacco must be delivered by the farmer, and not the agent, directly to the purchaser. A farmer must sell his tobacco in the condition in which it was cured on the farm and cannot stem, twist, plait, roll, sweeten or otherwise manipulate it for sale to consumers. The farmers of leaf tobacco are not required to pack the leaf, but may sell it in the hand or in such other state as they may desire in its natural condition."

UNION OF CHURCHES

Baptists and Christians, Methodists North and South,

And a General Amalgamation
of All Presbyterian Churches.

Perhaps there has never been a time in centuries when Protestant churches were looking forward so hopefully to a general unification as they are today. One of the most recent steps taken to merge two churches of apparently wide difference of doctrine was at a meeting held in Cincinnati only two or three months ago, when the initial movement was made to merge the Christian and Baptist churches. This has been followed by other movements looking to the final union of the Congregational and other churches. The Methodist Northern and Southern churches, some think, may be together in a decade, or less time.

There is a great deal of speculation and considerable talk in regard to all these movements, but it is nevertheless true, that a spirit of evangelism pervades all denominations at this time, and has for several years past. Non-essentialism has been put in the background and the desire to save men is the paramount object of all evangelistic denominations. That the Holy Spirit is working among God's people is evidenced by almost a world-wide revival, passing over our own land in a resolute wave and arousing to enthusiasm denominations that have heretofore been apathetic and apparently living only to enjoy a salvation that is offered to all men. And the end has not begun to appear. Some people believe from "the signs of the times" that the millennium is near at hand, and that the prediction in Revelations, 20th chapter and 2nd verse, "He laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years," is about to be fulfilled.

So far the most significant movement towards unification is the union of the Cumberland and Presbyterian churches; the first session of the united bodies being held in Columbus, Ohio, last month. The organized union of the Northern and Southern Presbyterian churches, to those who watch the trend of affairs in both denominations, is hardly so near at hand as the union of other churches, though some believe that it is inevitable. In that as it may, the consummation of the union of the two bodies above named seems to have put in motion the machines of Protestant churches generally, all true and devout believers of every creed having one great aim, the uplifting of humanity and the saving of souls. The different denominations of this city were never so close together as they are today, all working shoulder to shoulder in every movement that has for its object the helping of men in the better life and for the general good of the community.

Of course all men cannot be of the same mind even in spiritual matters. In the union of the Cumberland and Presbyterian churches there was a large percentage of the brethren who did not desire union with the older and much larger church and maintained their right to remain out and to preserve their autonomy.

As a result the minority hold on to their old name and claim a right to church properties. This claim they propose to carry to the courts. Appropos of this question we print the following, with no desire to take either side, but simply to let the people know something of the rights of church bodies. The minority in all future unions will undoubtedly make similar claims after refusing to abide by the action of the majority, but it is not reasonable to suppose that any future united changes, in this day of Christian tolerance, would attempt to coerce a minority into believing as they may. The days of the Spanish Inquisition are passed.

An exchange says: "The Appellate Court for the Third District of Illinois has recently handed down its opinion in what is known as the 'Decatur case,' which grew out of the proceedings for uniting the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. The action was by Bill in Equity, in behalf of anti-unionists, the object of which was to restrain the Cumberland Presbyterian General Assembly, in session at Decatur, Ill., in May, 1906, from consummating the union, the plan and terms of which had been approved by the General Assembly, and by the requisite majority of the Presbyteries of both churches. Judge Johns, who tried the case in the circuit court, sustained a demurrer to the bill and dismissed it, and the case was taken up to the Appellate Court, which affirmed the judgment.

In the opinion handed down the Appellate Court sustained every contention of the majority. It was held by the court that, whether or not there is a substantial agreement in the doctrines of the two churches, this is a question solely for the church courts to determine, and that the church courts having affirmed their agreement, the action, in this regard is binding on the civil courts.

Against the contention of the anti-unionists the court also found in sections 40 and 43 of the Constitution of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church ample authority to enter into the union, or the reunion, of the two churches, besides the inherent power to do so; which, in the absence of a positive prohibition, must be held to exist. A goodly number of instances are cited of the union of churches in this country, upon the faith of such inherent power, among others the union between the Old and New School Presbyterian churches in 1870.

The question of property rights cannot be kept down in any unions that may be consummated in the future and may come up in every state supreme court where the minority may exist. The appellate court of Illinois having already spoken, those interested will await the decisions of the highest courts of other states.

HOPKINSVILLE PASOR

Too Hold of Baptist Church
at Clarksville and Gave It a Start.

The Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle had a glowing account last Monday of the Baptist church, of that city. William A. D. Sears, who was pastor of the Baptist church here for many years, went to Clarksville the membership was 27, only six or seven of them being males. But one of them owned his own home. This was in 1866 or 1867. Dr. Sears went to work and his influence was soon felt in the community and after a while the membership began to grow. He served 25 years and passed from earth. Since his death there have been three pastors, Revs. Boone, Acree and D. Sears, the present incumbent. The congregation now owns a $25,000 church building, a $5,000 parsonage, and plans have been perfected for a large addition to the church building. The Sunday school has a roll of nearly 300 members.

The Record in Hopkinsville
Is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ill and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Hopkinsville citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

J. W. Pritchett, 752 E. Seventh Street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "Four years ago Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at L. A. Johnson & Co.'s drug store brought me such great relief that I was glad to tell the people of Hopkinsville my experience with the remedy. Before using them, pains extended through my kidneys and in the back, which caused me a great deal of annoyance. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised so highly that I concluded to try them. They proved to be an excellent remedy, relieving me of the aching in my back and helping me in other ways. I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am sure if people who have kidney trouble will use them according to directions they will be satisfied with the results obtained."

Modes of the Moment

In the ultra-fashionable world where there is no limit to the bank account and fancy and desire determine what shall be worn, it is to be an unusually extravagant season in the matter of dress, for everything is specially designed" or "specially created," and very few garments will be permitted to play more than one part. This being true, it will form a strong index as to what may be looked for among the women who are not blessed with unlimited means at their command, but who must carefully count the cost.

Our best advice to such is to have a few gowns, but to have these as perfect in every detail as possible. It has been said, and with much truth, that the Parisienne buys fewer new dresses in the year than the women of any other nation, but they take such infinite pains over each individual toilette that it represents perfection, and is, for that reason, a delight to the wearer and to the onlooker.

Taffeta hats in the cabaret form have had a revival and are among the most popular in the East, in fact it may be said to be the first favorite of the season, and it is made in every possible color, but always in a subdued shade. This style of hat is only suitable for afternoon wear—for visiting and for concerts, etc. It is essentially "dressy" and should never be permitted to accompany a severe tailor-made. The hat crowns grow higher day by day; many of them are exactly like large jam-pots, but others retain the charming Lamballe outline, only that they are higher and more aggressive than the crowns of last year. The mushroom shape seems to reign supreme, and it looks exceedingly smart when arranged with a large, puffed crown of some soft material and trimmed with a single feather, which sticks out at one side in a manner which may truly be described as "cheeky".

There is a rage in Paris for these big single feathers, and very often they are beautifully shaded in the most delicate colors. It is also fashionable to place a group of three feathers directly in front of a high-crowned hat, but these feathers are not possessed of the same chic as the single plume.

Irish lace is more than ever in the height of fashion. Costeen and bowen and blouses and collarettes of Irish crochet are being exploited. Every sort of lace is in the highest favor, and all kinds are cheerfully united on one garment. Any scraps that one possesses should be brought out, for a medallion of the finest point d'Alencon may center a yoke of heavy Irish crochet, and "trilliers" of Valenciennes run on net may form the sleeves of the same gown, and the like, with perfect propriety.

STYLES for MISSES

The prevalence of the pinafore bodice in the new fashions makes the said fashions very suitable for adoption to the young folks, who, indeed,

The Pinafore Bodice.

from the age of, say, four to 15 or 19, can be confidently expected to look their best in a dress of this kind.

For the first named small daisies the mother may take as her model our pictured frock where the pinafore bodice is outlined with a stitched band of its own material, or again of silk or velvet, while the chemisette and little turn-down collar or lace relieve its simplicity in the prettiest way, and the belt is specially becoming to the little people who have not yet developed a waist. This dress—which is, of course, made all in one—will look equally well in velvet or cloth, serge or alpaca, and might again be copied in the checked fabric, which are quite a feature of the latest juvenile fashions, in red and white for example, having a bordering band of red place and being finished off with a red leather belt.

Altogether the girls—as well as their elders—can make quite the most of themselves this spring, for styles are accommodating, and the most popular colors—delicate pink and old-rose shades, soft blues, and the promised increasing popularity of white—are well suited to a youthful freshness of complexion. The mushroom hat, too, is a perfect frame for young faces, either in its simplest aspect, with just a twist of satin ribbon to encircle the crown and finish in a chon at one side, while the other is occupied by a bunch of flowers, or when again a full crown of net is encircled by a wreath of blossoms. All these more elaborate and much favored modes which introduce intricate embroideries, shimmering silver tissues and rhinestones, and far-spreading plumes and silvernet must, of course, be passed over in the choice of suitable attire for the girls though in the case of evening or presentation gowns for those who will soon arrive at the dignity of the twenties, just a suggestion of silver is not only permissible but pretty.

A dress which we save the other day is most deserving of imitative admiration. It was of pale pink nain, the pinafore bodice sloping well down over the shoulders, and was outlined with a piping of silk and a trail of rosebuds and leaves, embroidered in pink and green silks. The chemisette of lace was gull-like of the same fine lace, which were quite a welcome change, just a little ruffling of Valenciennes softening it at the throat, while the sleeves were made notable by long mitten-like cuffs of the same fine lace, which were quite a welcome change after the unbroken succession of short sleeves which, whether becoming or not, have been so invariably worn for the last two or three seasons.

The Firefly.
O phosphorescent life,
That twinges across the darkness night,
Alone beneath the cloud-hung sky,
I pause to contemplate thy flight.

And long I muse upon thy scheme,
While bullfrogs croak and blackness reigns,
While night owl hoots and blatant hound
His baying to the night compains.

How like our lives thy pulses flash—
A fleeting shaft of light, and then
The dull, dim blanket of the dark,
Is spread about our hearts again.

A flash, a joy; a laugh, a tear—
Now comes the last roll-call of earth:
While over all is thrown the night—
The preordained of fate's air.

And of the shadowland beyond
We do not know; we cannot tell;
For no man ever returns to say
What fortune after death befell!

And yet we know the dying rose
Springs into life with fragrant June,
And blooms again when all the world
Is bathed in springtime's sweet perfume.

And so through death, we hope for spring—
Eternal spring in land above,
Where we may find each other,
When the joys of peace and endless love!

AN EXPENSIVE LESSON.

Columbus Get It Through Public Ownership of Electric Light.

The latest municipal plant in a large city to give the grand halling sign of distress is the electric light plant of Columbus, O. The director of public service asked last June for an additional bond issue of $250,000. The obvious reason the city fathers were bushful about popping this question to the voters. Now, however, Director Lied says that if the money is not forthcoming the plant will be thrown out the streets that would otherwise be left to the tender mercies of the moon.

To show how easy it is to drive the wedge of expenditure and how thick the veil, and is in comparison with the thin edge that appears in the original "estimate" the following figures are quoted from the last annual report of the trustees of the electric fund, all of the bonds mentioned being for the erection and equipment of the electric light plant:

Dec. 1, 1897.....$25,000
April 1, 1901.....125,000
Jan. 1, 1903.....125,000
Oct. 28, 1903.....150,000
Sept. 1, 1904.....200,000
April 12, 1905 (completing).....250,000
Total.....$500,000

In view of the present request for $140,000 more the use of the word "completing" in the last item seems unfortunate, though it probably gave momentary solace to the taxpayers.

During an investigation held in June, 1905, the expense of the plant was found to be $140,000 less than the competence and extravagance were brought to light, but the original contract was not, so that important documents have been lost from the city records.
Blunders in planning and construction are alleged that would have caused an honest electrician or architect's apprentice to hang his head for shame if he had perpetrated them and the inspecting engineer of a large Philadelphia firm stated that his company was at that time installing a plant of approximately the same capacity for $125,000, less than the sum now asked to "complete" the plant on which $500,000 has been lavished.

The consent of the Brooklyn Eagle is,
"You simply can't marry business to politics," and the Boston Advertiser adds:

"Of course it is easy enough to say that the people of that city should have learned enough from the failure of public ownership everywhere else to keep out of so dangerous a venture, but the writings of badly informed theorists probably deluded Columbus as they have deceived other communities.
Boston once tried municipal ownership and lost over $3,000,000 in the venture."

BLOOMINGTON'S DILEMMA.
Must Spend $50,000 on Its Electric Light Plant or Abandon It.

The authorities of Bloomington, Ill., are confronted with the dilemma of either spending $50,000 on the renovation of the municipal electric light plant or abandoning it.

A committee of the council recently brought the subject to the local traction company and found that a considerable saving could be effected by contract lighting, but some members, for reasons of their own, prefer to retain the city plant at any cost.

The plant cost $100,000 and has been in operation since 1889. Its bad management is shown by the increase in operating expenses from $58,477 a year for the period of 1889-94 to $85,477 for the period of 1902-06, although this cost should have materially decreased on account both of the large increase of the number of lamps and of the improvements in the art during the last fifteen years. The total annual cost per lamp during the last five years was about $100, a much higher figure than is charged by the private companies of Illinois operating under similar conditions.

"I WOULD SAY 'DON'T!'"
Advice From One Who Knows About
Municipal Utilities.

Martin E. Jensen, ex-treasurer of Norwich, Conn., gives in the New England Magazine a cold blooded account of that city, which will rather surprise those who have read the glowing accounts furnished by Mayor Thayer.
Mr. Jensen, after allowing every possible credit to the city, shows that with only 5 per cent depreciation the net loss for the first thirteen months has about $18,723 and estimates that the loss on the second year will not fall below $24,000. In closing he says:

"Examination of local municipal accounting covering a period from 1867 to 1905 convinced me that cities conducting their affairs through unpaid and untrained commissioners run hopelessly into debt, because appropriations are overpaid."

To those contemplating going into municipal lighting under Norwich conditions I would say "Don't!"

Municipal Parcels Service.
The first year's working of the Manchester (England) twinway parcels service has resulted in a deficit of nearly $30,000, according to the report of the manager. He also admits that the service cannot be maintained unless there is a large increase in capital outlay (this sounds familiar) and that the employees have much longer hours than can be justified.

Government is best when it governs
the least.—Jerome Jones.

BLOOMINGTON'S DILEMMA. Must Spend $50,000 on Its Electric Light Plant or Abandon It.

The authorities of Bloomington, Ill., are confronted with the dilemma of either spending $50,000 on the renovation of the municipal electric light plant or abandoning it.

A committee of the council recently brought the subject to the local traction company and found that a considerable saving could be effected by contract lighting, but some members, for reasons of their own, prefer to retain the city plant at any cost.

The plant cost $100,000 and has been in operation since 1889. Its bad management is shown by the increase in operating expenses from $58,477 a year for the period of 1889-94 to $85,477 for the period of 1902-06, although this cost should have materially decreased on account both of the large increase of the number of lamps and of the improvements in the art during the last fifteen years. The total annual cost per lamp during the last five years was about $100, a much higher figure than is charged by the private companies of Illinois operating under similar conditions.

"I WOULD SAY 'DON'T!'" Advice From One Who Knows About Municipal Utilities.

Martin E. Jensen, ex-treasurer of Norwich, Conn., gives in the New England Magazine a cold blooded account of that city, which will rather surprise those who have read the glowing accounts furnished by Mayor Thayer.

Mr. Jensen, after allowing every possible credit to the city, shows that with only 5 per cent depreciation the net loss for the first thirteen months has about $18,723 and estimates that the loss on the second year will not fall below $24,000. In closing he says:

"Examination of local municipal accounting covering a period from 1867 to 1905 convinced me that cities conducting their affairs through unpaid and untrained commissioners run hopelessly into debt, because appropriations are overpaid."

To those contemplating going into municipal lighting under Norwich conditions I would say "Don't!"

Municipal Parcels Service. The first year's working of the Manchester (England) twinway parcels service has resulted in a deficit of nearly $30,000, according to the report of the manager. He also admits that the service cannot be maintained unless there is a large increase in capital outlay (this sounds familiar) and that the employees have much longer hours than can be justified.

Government is best when it governs the least.—Jerome Jones.

FARMER ATTACKED.

By Bull And Had Narrow Escape From Death.

Mr. M. D. Meacham, who resides two miles west of the city, was attacked by a bull Wednesday afternoon and sustained some bad bruises. Mr. Meacham was passing through a field where the animal was grazing. He carried a hoe on his shoulder, and when attacked by the bull, he used the implement in fighting him off until the handle broke, when he was knocked down and run over by the animal. The bull had been dehorned and this fact probably saved Mr. Meacham's life.
